Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting 2022

President Ibrahim Mohamed Solih attended the official opening ceremony of the 26th Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM) held on 21 June 2022. The ceremony was held at the Kigali Convention Centre, Kigali, Rwanda. First Lady Fazna Ahmed accompanied President Solih.

CHOGM 2022 was the first such meeting since the Maldives' re-accession to the alliance. The Maldives initially joined the Commonwealth of Nations on July 9, 1982, but withdrew membership on October 13, 2016. The Commonwealth accepted the Maldives' application for re-admission on February 1, 2020, welcoming it as the 54th member and marking the fulfilment of one of President Solih's administration's inaugural pledges.

The CHOGM 2022 was themed around "Delivering a Common Future: Connecting, Innovating, Transforming." Held from June 20-25, 2022, CHOGM brought delegates from 54 nations who sought to strengthen multilateral cooperation, explore new opportunities, and address shared challenges facing future generations.

Minister of Foreign Affairs Abdulla Shahid bestowed the Duarte, Sanchez and Mella Order of Merit, Grand Cross, Silver Plate of the Dominican Republic

the Dominican Republic by the Foreign Minister of the Dominican Republic His Excellency Mr Roberto Álvarez.

In a statement released by the Foreign Minister following the ceremony held on 18 June 2022 Foreign Minister stated that "Receiving this honour reaffirms his commitment to deliver on the Presidency of Hope he had envisioned - one that is built on recovering from the COVID-19 pandemic, rebuilding sustainably, responding to the needs of the planet, respecting the rights of all, and revitalizing the United Nations. A Presidency of Hope - one that delivers for people, for the planet, and for prosperity. The Foreign Minister had also stated that the honour is a validation of the forward-looking foreign policy of President Ibrahim Mohamed Solih, that prioritises engagement, champions multilateralism, and the values of democracy. It was this engagement that led to the Maldives - one of the smallest countries in the United Nations - to be elected to serve as the President of the General Assembly.”

Minister of Foreign Affairs Abdulla Shahid's Official visit to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia

The conclusion of the agreements demonstrates a pivotal point of progress in the bilateral relationship between the two countries and will further enhance cooperation and coordination between the two countries on bilateral and multilateral issues.

United Nations Oceans Conference 2022.

The 2022 UN Ocean Conference, co-hosted by the Governments of Kenya and Portugal, took place from 27 June – 1 July 2022, in Lisbon, Portugal. The overall theme of the Conference is: “Scaling up ocean action based on science and innovation for the implementation of Goal 14: stocktaking, partnerships and solutions.”

Maldives delegation was headed by Minister of Environment, Climate Change and Technology Her Excellency Aminath Shauna as the special representative of President Ibrahim Mohamed Solih.

In the Conference's final declaration world leaders called for greater ambition to ensure that the dire state of the ocean is addressed.

Among the challenges the Ocean faces are coastal erosion, rising sea levels, warmer and more acidic waters, marine pollution, overexploitation of fish stocks and decrease of marine biodiversity.

Acknowledging that climate change is “one of the greatest challenges of our time”, and the need to “act decisively and urgently to improve the health, productivity, sustainable use and resilience of the ocean and its ecosystems”, delegates gathered in Lisbon stressed that science-based and innovative actions, along with international cooperation, are essential to provide the necessary solutions.

On the margins of the United Nations Oceans Conference 2022 State Minister Ahmed Khaleel met with the Minister of Climate Change of Vanuatu, Hon. Silas Bule Melve and discussed enhancing the cooperation between the two countries on areas of shared concern and mutual interest.

the President of the United Nations General Assembly
In June 2022*

Stockholm+ 50

The President of the United Nations General Assembly His Excellency Abdulla Shahid undertook an official visit to Sweden on 2 June 2022 to participate in Stockholm 50. Stockholm +50 is an international meeting convened by the United Nations General Assembly and this year it commemorated the 50 years since the 1972 United Nations Conference on the Human Environment, which made the environment a pressing global issue for the first time.

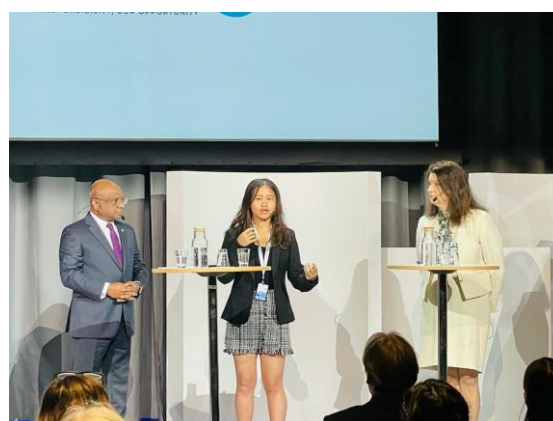

During the opening segment of the event the President of the United Nations General Assembly stated that “Human progress cannot occur on an earth that is starved of its resources, marred by pollution and is under relentless assault from a climate crisis of our own making”

The President of the United Nations General Assembly His Excellency Abdulla Shahid meeting His Majesty King Carl XVI Gustaf & Her Royal Highness Crown Princess Victoria. Commended the Swedish leadership on environment conservation and climate action

During the two-day visit to Sweden the President of the United Nations General Assembly attended several events.

One of these events was one that was organized by the President of the United Nations General Assembly titled “Achieving a sustainable and inclusive recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic: (Re)shaping economies for women”. During this event the President of the United Nations General Assembly had highlighted that the workplace of the future must be rooted in equity and free of discrimination and harmful stereotypes about women’s skills and work ethic, leadership abilities or intellect. President of the UN General Assembly further stressed that “workplaces must be free of the barriers and biases that have been historically used to limit the opportunities for women, undermine their advancement and depress their wages.

Another event that was attended by the President of the United Nations General Assembly was called “Towards sustainable Youth-Inclusive future: Presenting the demands of the Stockholm50 Youth Policy Paper”. During this event the President of the United Nations General Assembly emphasized on the eagerness and passion of the youth being the most powerful tool to combat challenges and achieve sustainability.

High-Level Debate on “Enhancing Youth Mainstreaming in Crime Prevention Policies”

On 4 June 2022 the President of the General Assembly His Excellency Abdulla Shahid attended a high-level debate on “enhancing youth mainstreaming in crime prevention policies”.

This debate provides an opportunity for member states to exchange views about opportunities and challenges in mainstreaming youth in crime prevention policies and practices, including the design, implementation and coordination of policies and programmes that target youth both as victims and potential offenders, as well as initiatives that aim to mobilize and empower youth as agents of change and contribute to more effective, evidence- base prevention.

In the opening remarks the President of the General Assembly encouraged the member states to develop and implement comprehensive, evidence- based crime prevention policies, national and local strategies and action plans based on an understanding of the multiple factors that contribute to crime. The President of the General Assembly had also stated that by empowering young people and by bringing them into the process and giving them ownership as well as hearing their concerns and suggestions, we can strengthen the system and make our communities safer for everyone”.

Informal High-Level Meeting of the General Assembly on Countering Hate Speech

The President of the United Nations General Assembly presided over an informal high-level meeting to commemorate the first International Day for Countering Hate Speech which is celebrated on 18 June.

The purpose of this meeting was to raise awareness on the issue and to galvanize political strategies to identify and counter hate-speech at national and global levels.

President of the UN General Assembly Abdulla Shahid, underlining the insidious effects of hate speech, reiterated the importance of collective responsibility to address this phenomenon and its impact on communities. President of the General Assembly also stressed the need to equip learners with the knowledge and skills to counter hate speech — online and offline — and teach new generations to take responsibility for their online behaviour.

Adoption of the “International Day of Women in Diplomacy”

The President of the United Nations General Assembly presided over General Assembly plenary which adopted the resolution on the “International Day of Women in Diplomacy” henceforth to be celebrated on 24 June every year.

During the remarks delivered by the President of the General Assembly he stated that women working in diplomacy have made critical contributions to shaping the multilateral system we have inherited today. President of the General Assembly also noted that women diplomats played an essential role in drafting the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the first treaty to articulate the fundamental human rights that should be universally protected. Furthermore, President of the General Assembly stated that despite the evident contributions of women to diplomacy and multilateral decision-making, they continue to be underrepresented in senior diplomatic positions, and they still suffer the deep-rooted legacies of sexism, which hinder their professional advancement and obscure their contributions and achievements.

These facts underscore the importance of the resolution being adopted. Now we have a day specifically devoted to celebrating women in diplomacy, UNPGA further stated. President of the General Assembly concluded by stating that with this resolution, we open the door to discuss the challenges women in diplomacy face. With this celebration of women in diplomacy, we inspire the next generation.

The official launch of the group of friends of UN-Habitat, Sustainable Urbanization and the New Urban Agenda.

The President of the United Nations General Assembly attended the official launch of the group of friends of UN-

Habitat, Sustainable urbanization and the New Urban Agenda on 21 June 2022.

The New Urban Agenda was developed to address urban challenges. Adopted at the United Nations Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urbanization (HABITAT III) held in Quito, Ecuador on 20 October 2016, it is a document that sets global standards of sustainable urban development. Through policy advice and practical case studies it offers a new way of looking at how to build, manage, and live in cities.

During the launching of this group, the President of the United Nations General Assembly had given his remarks and stated that in a world that is increasingly and dramatically urban, we need to be guided by the New Urban Agenda.
